FAQs

Who can sign up for the program?

You can only get a certificate if you are an employee of a company that operates with Avature. No prior Avature experience or programming know-how is required.

Does it have a cost?

Yes, you can reach out to your Avature representative to learn more about pricing.

How much prep time do I need to get certified?

On average, it takes 2 weeks to get certified in any of the four certification levels. Given that most lectures are between 1 and 2 hours long, you should consider a half-day training block during those certification weeks. If you are completely new to Avature, you may have to spend a minimum of 10 hours per week between lectures and practice.

May I sign up for multiple levels?

You may participate in one or more certification levels. If you are applying for the Advanced Certification, you must hold an Associate Certification or have passed the equivalent evaluation. If you are applying for the Admin Certification, you must hold an Advanced Certification or have passed the equivalent evaluation.

What does the final evaluation consist of?

The evaluation consists of scenario-based exercises for each of the certification levels. The passing mark is 75%, meaning that the level of knowledge required is high. You will be able to sit for the evaluation twice.

When you pass a final evaluation, you will earn a certificate and a digital badge, which you can share online with your professional network.

What happens if I fail an evaluation?

You will have two attempts to pass an exam (both for a specific certification level or bypass evaluation)

FAQs

Can I cancel and reschedule my participation in a certification level or evaluation?

All participants will be able to reschedule at no additional cost and participate in a later training course/evaluation of their choice, pending availability.

If I want to skip three certification levels, do I need to take three bypass evaluations?

No, bypass evaluations' content increase as more certification levels are skipped. Bypass Associate and Advanced evaluation's content is related to both levels' curricula, whereas Bypass Associate, Advanced, and Admin Certification evaluation includes features and functionality from the three certification levels.

Does my certification expire?

Yes, certificates are valid for a year. You can keep skills up-to-date and stay on top of Avature's new functionality with our learning courses and exams that are continuously updated. To maintain your certification, you'll be required to attend refresher session to stay current with our new releases. Re-certification dates are available in this document.

Does the certification syllabus change?

Yes, certifications' and bypass evaluations' syllabus is updated annually to incorporate new features and best practices. Program's content is subject to change without prior notice.

Can a certification course be canceled and rescheduled?

There is a minimum attendance requirement for holding a training session and due to lack of registrants, training for a particular level may be cancelled, where a subsequent session will be offered.

If I miss a re-certification instance, can I participate in the next one?

If you do not complete the required renewals, your certification will expire. You can re-earn certificates by attending the following recertification session on any of the published dates.

FAQs

How long are recertification sessions?

Recertifications length vary based on how many levels are being covered. Sessions' maximum length is 2 hours.

If I'm certified in all levels, do I have to sign up for multiple certifications?

No. You simply need to register for a recertification session that covers all certification levels you're interested in.
